

Leadership Effectiveness

Tactical, Diplomatic, Strategic or Logistical

Every leader has a predominating strength in leadership style, which directly impacts a leader's effectiveness. It's important to be aware of your particular propensity in style and practices, in order to ensure you are able to effectively carry out the duties and responsibilities associated with your particular Leadership role.

A Tactical Leader

Is best suited for arranging, maneuvering and engaging resources to reach short-term objectives.

A Diplomatic Leader

Is best suited for adroitly, tactfully and skillfully dealing with people.

A Strategic Leader

Is best suited for planning, directing and managing large-scale operations and maneuvers for engagement to reach long-term objectives.

A Logistical Leader

Is best suited for procuring, transporting and maintaining resources and facilities.

Rhonda Robinson, Principal & Corporate Strategist

Robinson Enterprises, LLC

www.RobinsonROI.com